When one thinks of a one-stop design shop, Romanza Interior Design should come to mind. The Naples-based firm, led by COO Steve Miller, calls itself a full-service, boutique studio, and this couldn't be more accurate. Indoor and outdoor furnishings, decorative lighting, custom window treatments, artwork and sculptures, faux finishing, rugs, accessories, wallcoverings, floor plans, custom bedding, surface selection, custom built-ins, plumbing fixtures—the list of what Romanza's award-winning team handles for its clients quite literally goes on. The goal in such comprehensive management, according to Miller, is to redefine the art of the bespoke. “Whether we are creating a brand-new dream home, or updating and customizing an existing residence, or even just adding finishing touches to a design they already love, Romanza delivers inspired results that are a true reflection of the homeowner's personality, style and energy,” he says. “We want to serve as your ultimate partner on the path to a unique and upscale home that is completely suited to you.” And that they do, as is evident in their diverse portfolio of projects. Throughout it all, the team is guided by principles of quality, respect, commitment, integrity and teamwork.

ASK THE EXPERT

What style is your firm most known for?

Coastal, contemporary, old-world, traditional and transitional all have a place in our repertoire, but we also generally incorporate furniture styles with clean and modern lines, a mix of finishes, including wood, glass, marble and metal, and textural and tactile elements that feel luxurious.

In what kinds of communities do you work?

We have taken on projects in a range of areas within Naples, from master-planned communities like Mediterra—named Community of the Year in the Sand Dollar Awards an impressive 12 times—to luxury homesite locations in Port Royal and downtown.

Romanza was an integral part of the dream team that created a balance of luxury and livability in this home. The interiors take their cue from the property's surroundings and serene views, mixing neutral shades of sand with soft blues and metallic touches.
